

What is claimed is:

1. A hockey game comprising:

5 a plurality of player pieces comprising a center, a left wing, a right wing, a left defensemen, a right defensemen, and a goalie, said player cards having disposed thereon on a first surface, a likeness of an actual hockey player, and on the opposite surface thereof, applicable playing statistics with respect to that player,

10 at least 1 implement which bears a differing broad surface, such as a “head” and a “tail”, sized to function as a “puck” and used for the initiation and progress of play.

2. The game of Claim 1 wherein said cards are collectible hockey player cards.

15

3. The game of Claim 1 wherein the implement is a member selected from the group consisting of a coin or a chip.

4. The game of Claim 1 wherein the pieces are images of collectible hockey 20 player cards displayed on a computer interface.

20

5. The game of Claim 1 wherein each team comprises 3 centers, 3 right wings, 3 left wings, 6 defensemen and 3 goalies.

6. The game of Claim 1 further comprising a board formed in the general shape 25 of a hockey rink, including a center line and, optionally, outlines for the placement of one or more players in starting positions.

25

7. The game of Claim 3 having at least 2 coins or implements, the first sized to 30 function as a puck and the second to be used for initiation and progress of play by coin toss.

30

8. The game of Claim 1, wherein each side lines up for play with a left wing, a right wing, a center, two defensemen, and a goalie.
- 5 9. The game of Claim 1, wherein each side lines up for play with at least 3 players and a goalie.
- 10 10. A method of play of a hockey game comprising: face off, slap shots, passing, stick checking, scoring, player movement, beating, burning, dumping and player substitutions.